Three questions inform my work in church relations: What is God doing in the world? What is God doing in your life? How can we join you? I can't wait to listen and learn alongside congregations to work out where we can come together in advancing the kingdom of God. As I listen to the needs of those around me, share stories, and find creative ways to work with others, I believe we can create a joint vision for the kingdom. Let's engage this wild and beautiful world together as we respond to God's call!

Blessings,

Brady Peters
